Here is a pro tip that many experienced users swear by when working with Aliexpress Spreadsheet Ripped Off: create a separate sheet for your reference data. This includes things like shipping carrier rates, tax brackets, platform fee structures, and common product categories. Then use VLOOKUP or INDEX-MATCH to pull this data into your main tracking sheet. It also means that if fee structures change, you only need to update one cell instead of hundreds of rows. Trust us, this simple habit will save you countless hours.

Some users prefer to keep a local backup in addition to the cloud version, just to be extra safe. It only takes a few minutes to set up, and it can be a lifesaver.

Look for sellers with high ratings, a long track record, and responsive customer service. Read both positive and negative reviews to get a balanced picture. Be especially cautious of sellers who have only perfect reviews with generic comments, as these may be fabricated. A few negative reviews are actually a good sign because they indicate the feedback system is genuine. Pay attention to how the seller responds to negative feedback, as this tells you a lot about their customer service quality.

These small organizational habits might seem trivial, but they save an enormous amount of time when you are managing dozens or hundreds of orders simultaneously.
