Here is a pro tip that many experienced users swear by when working with Freightos How To Export Spreadsheet: create a separate sheet for your reference data. This includes things like shipping carrier rates, tax brackets, platform fee structures, and common product categories. Then use VLOOKUP or INDEX-MATCH to pull this data into your main tracking sheet. This approach keeps your main sheet clean and makes it easy to update reference data without touching your core records. It also means that if fee structures change, you only need to update one cell instead of hundreds of rows. Trust us, this simple habit will save you countless hours.

For those who want to get the most out of Freightos How To Export Spreadsheet, learning a few key formulas can make a massive difference. You do not need to be a programmer or a math genius. Start with basic formulas like SUM, AVERAGE, and COUNT. Then move on to VLOOKUP and INDEX-MATCH for cross-referencing data between sheets. Conditional formatting is another powerful feature that can automatically highlight items that need your attention, such as orders that have been pending for more than a week or items where the profit margin falls below a certain threshold. These small improvements compound over time and can significantly boost your productivity.

Shipping insurance is something that many buyers overlook when using Freightos How To Export Spreadsheet, but it can be a worthwhile investment for higher-value orders. Most platforms offer some form of shipping protection, but the coverage details vary. Read the fine print carefully to understand what is and is not covered. In our experience, the small additional cost of insurance is worth the peace of mind, especially for orders exceeding $100. If a package gets lost or damaged, having insurance dramatically simplifies the refund process and reduces the amount of time you spend dealing with disputes.

Tools like Google Apps Script, Zapier, or n8n can automate repetitive tasks like copying data between sheets, sending notifications when order statuses change, or generating summary reports at the end of each week. You do not need to be a developer to set up basic automations. Many platforms offer pre-built templates and tutorials that walk you through the process step by step. Start with one simple automation and gradually build from there as you become more comfortable.
